Say you saw it in the Worth Valley Mag!

Thank you for a great magazine. Keep the good work up. I really enjoy reading all about our local village. It makes some of the top magazines look rubbish. Good Luck!
C. Smith O.A.P.

Congratulations on the magazine.
Marion & Ron Armstrong, Haworth.

Love your magazine.
I look forward to the next one.
Vera Redman, Haworth.

Advertising in the Worth Valley Mag is certainly bringing the work in. It's the best form of advertising I've come across. I get more business out of it than out of any other type of advertising I've used. What I particularly like about the mag is that it's a local service for local people.
Paul Cannon, PC Consulting.

I enjoy thumbing through the mag! Well Done!
Kath Gower, Cross Roads.

Many thanks for splendid mag, it looks and reads really well.
Regards
Jon Skowronski, Oxenhope

Within a few days of the mag coming out I'd had several enquiries and a week later I had my first job which covered the cost of my ad.

Andy Wadsworth, Gas Heating Specialist.

I never thought I really needed to advertise but loads of people have said they've seen my ad and hadn't realised I'd started doing car sales as well as repairs.
Alfie Walker, Highfield Motors.

I've kept my mag because it's full of useful information about local businesses and events. I've particularly enjoyed reading about local people and businesses that I didn't know anything about. It's so much nicer to keep an attractive colourful magazine around the house than a newspaper.”
Claire Dale, Haworth.

Love your magazine - long may it prosper.
Regards,
Rob Grillo, Lumbfoot, Stanbury

Great Mag, Keep up the good work.
Regards

It has been an exciting first year for the Worth Valley Mag. When Karen and I first thought about launching our publishing business we never imagined it would be such a roller coaster of a ride! A special thanks go to friends, family, and colleagues who have supported us in this endeavour and without whom we would have faltered at the start. We share our success with you and look forward to a new year filled with exciting and fresh possibilities. Thank you to our readers for your enthusiastic and positive feedback. We are delighted that the magazine has been so well received in the community and is proving to be an effective method for promoting local business. Roll on year two!

PENNY FOR THE GUY

"A desperate disease requires a dangerous remedy"

Guy Fawkes

At this time of year thoughts turn to the impending financial crisis of Christmas.

Many large stores have no shame in reminding you of your obligation to start buying hordes of wastefully packaged pap before the summer sun has barely doffed his cap. Simple items such as shampoo suddenly appear on shelves in large red boxes festooned with ribbons and framed in impenetrable gold card and swathed in bullet proof plastic. Bathroom products are the lazy option for those of us who don't have a clue what to buy people we don't know very well. It's the best time to show your appreciation for an uncle you haven't seen since birth. Buy them a gift set of soap on a rope, bubble bath and talcum powder. Is it just me or is talcum powder one of those strange, inexplicable products that everyone stopped using years ago? Did you know that it is an effective ant deterrent? Anyway - enough of talcum powder, this is the month we should be thinking about gun powder. Bonfire night is imminent and I'm beginning to wonder what happened to "Penny for the Guy". Maybe it still happens and I'm just lucky enough to live in a house they avoid for some strange reason (maybe I should get that doorbell fixed). When I was knee high to a Roman Candle we'd barely spent the takings from "Happy Halloween" before our thoughts turned to building a "Guy" and the opportunity for earning even more cash through the age old tradition of door to door beggary.

We'd stuff a few old clothes, gloves and boots with newspaper and then stick a mask on a football for the head. Then we'd borrow my dad's wheel barrow and present our effigy to the neighbours in exchange for their hard earned shilling. One year we couldn't be bothered making one so I pretended to be the Guy. This could be quite dangerous. Sometimes your mates would knock on the door and run off leaving you. Or there was the time an old bloke got a bit suspicious and started prodding my nether regions with his walking stick. Still - it was a good earner and when our pockets were full we'd pile in to the local tuck shop and blow it all on curley-wurleys and bangers. If we'd had a really good night we might even buy a rocket or the infamous air bomb repeater, a fearsome treat, but small time compared to the infamous French banger. We had exchange trips to France at our school and any lad who didn't come back from the Dordogne armed to the teeth with les bangers was persona non grata. English bangers went phut. French bangers went BOOM! No competition. Like bubble wrap versus dynamite. We'd plant them in the ground and using a taper, light them at arms length and stand well back. We never threw them in ginnels or put tin cans on top of them to see how high they could blow them. That would have been the behaviour of irresponsible young idiots. Honestly mum.

By the time 5th of November came around we'd already set off all our fireworks and the lads from the next estate had burnt down our bonfire, but we'd already had our fun - and besides I'm not sure I'd want to celebrate the demise of a fellow Yorkshire man, particularly one with the reputation of being the only man to enter parliament with honest intentions.

Michael Duke, chef, manager and licensee of The Kings Arms in Haworth is "Pleased as Punch" these days...that is because The Kings Arms has been nominated for a Punch 'Shine Award' for its Good Food Offering. And it must be said, one look at the extensive menus and it is clear to see that the offering at the pub is immense. With such a large selection on offer there is something for everyone at The Kings Arms. One can choose from a tempting Daily Specials Board, The Burger Bar Menu, Meal Deals, Salad Platters, Famous Giant Yorkshire Puddings with various fillings, and a brand new menu is being introduced in November with even more surprises.

Michael Duke and partner Laura Stansfield are jointly managing the pub and share an enthusiasm for the business under the guidance and experienced help of veteran pub owners Kevin and Susan Duke. In addition to the food there is a thriving night life with Thursdays featuring "Two Men in a Corner", an Irish/folk act from 8:30pm. Friday night is disco/karaoke night. Sunday 5:30-8:30 is karaoke followed by a popular Quiz with a free supper for all to enjoy...and 'Play your Cards Right' with a jackpot reaching up to £250.

If it is accommodation you require, The Kings Arms has a double en-suite room with colour TV and coffee making facilities. It is offered at a competitive rate and at the time of going to press most weekends were available in November and December running up to Christmas. (Why not come to Haworth and Scroggle the Holly...enjoy a day of Christmas shopping, sample our changing cask ales, and linger over a meal?) From December 3rd the Christmas Fayre menu will be available. Book yourself in and relish in a succulent roast crown of turkey with all the traditional trimmings followed by flambéed Christmas pudding topped with brandy sauce. These are just a few of the options available to you on the festive Christmas Fayre menu.

THEY GET BY WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM WYEDEAN WEAVING

What have Idi Amin, The Beatles and the United States 101st Airborne Division got in common? They've all been kitted out in style by Wyedean Weaving Company of Haworth. It is unusual to find a successful textile mill still in operation in the UK; most are dilapidated or in various states of renovation. Luxury flats or trendy retail outlets are the current fashionable refit. Managing Director Robin Wright and his late father, David, are credited with the rare accolade of running a successful textile mill in the 21st Century. The company, which started in Coventry in 1850 and relocated to the Worth Valley over 40 years ago, specialises in manufacturing military regalia and accoutrements such as insignia and braid. Aside from its more obvious clients such as the MOD, it has been busy supplying an impressive cast of movie stars and pop icons. Russell Crowe, Leonardo di Caprio and Tom Cruise have Wyedean to thank for making them shine in their respective blockbusters.

As any visitor to London's famous Camden Market will know, exotic military paraphernalia is a timeless fashion accessory firmly anchored in the roots of British pop culture and favoured in Hollywood. From the Beatles, to Adam Ant, Michael Jackson, Oasis and beyond, the shoulder boards, rank stripes and frogging look have been passed down and imitated from rock star arenas to LA's famous Rodeo Drive boutiques, to high street fashion chain stores around the world.

Jackson's uniforms were braided and tassled in Haworth and were said to have a built in cooling system which used piped cold water! Not so much Thriller as chiller! The Beatles Sergeant Pepper is probably one of the best known album covers in the world. Guess who made all the trimmings on the uniforms? It would be difficult not to look at that cover again without thinking of the imposing mill by the side of the Worth River. In the past they have made touch cord for igniting cannons, but more bizarrely false eyelashes for camels in the Jordan Army Cavalry. Apparently they're a good mosquito deterrent! And if you think that's weird imagine being asked to turn out 6,000 metres of bandage for a dead body. When Hollywood remade the film "The Mummy", there was only one place they knew which could do the job... Full Marks go to Wyedean Weaving!

Daedalian, recently featured in the pages of 25 Beautiful Kitchens.

Handcrafted in Oxenhope

It was the millennium when Catherine Senior and Jonas Hartley set up Daedalian, a company dedicated to the design and manufacture of the highest quality fitted and free standing furniture. Both Catherine and Jonas came to the business with considerable experience and exacting standards. With a shared vision and a team made up of talented cabinet makers, specialist finishers and fitters, Daedalian has steadily built an excellent reputation both locally in the Worth Valley and beyond the Yorkshire borders, mainly by word of mouth. Customers have been so delighted with the company's craftsmanship and personal service that several have felt compelled to write to various national interior design magazines and relay their glowing reports. It seems the secret is out and this busy workshop located on the outskirts of picturesque Oxenhope is likely to benefit from some well deserved publicity.

The secret of Daedalian's success has been down to its approachable manner and the team's singular and shared passion for making beautifully handcrafted furniture. From a bookcase designed to fit in to an odd shaped space, or a freestanding table, or a fully fitted bathroom, to a completely redesigned kitchen; if it is made of hardwood and requires impeccable craftsmanship, Daedalian is most likely suited for the job. Often other materials are utilized in designs and the team are well versed in the use of metal, glass, granite and slate, as well as other appropriate materials.

2007 marks a new chapter in Daedalian's growth and success with increased exposure gained in July as an exhibitor at The Yorkshire Show. It was a resounding triumph with new orders and positive feedback from both new and existing clients following the show.

Despite the heady media interest and a growing national reputation, Catherine, Jonas and the rest of the team have their feet firmly planted on the ground. Daedalian remains a friendly local business and a place that local people are encouraged to visit. The workshop on Shaw Lane has a showroom and it is open Monday to Friday 8am-5:30pm and also on Saturdays 10am-4pm. You will be offered a cup of tea and asked to take your time to look round; feel free to browse through the portfolio of recent work or run your hand over the lovely examples of Daedalian's craftsmanship in the furniture on display.

And the next time you want a piece of furniture made to measure or your kitchen updated, you won't have to travel very far for inspiration or help. One visit and you will see why this little company is making a big impact in the highly competitive market of individually designed and handmade furniture.

If it is a fine pint you are after, The Cross Roads is worth mentioning in the Worth Valley. Chris Marsden, the Cross Roads landlord, has worked hard to turn the place in to a real local stopping ground. To look at it now, it is difficult to believe that eighteen months ago the pub was in complete disrepair and destined for the bulldozers. It was The Copper Dragon Brewery along with Chris' efforts that saved it from the scrap heap. The challenges have been significant and, as Chris will point out, there is more work to be done, but the first phase of getting the pub back on its feet is complete.

At Cross Roads you can taste the cask ale that scooped awards in all of the four categories at the Keighley Beer, Cider & Perry Festival. Scotts 1816 beat off competition from 90-other real ales by winning "Beer of the Festival" and "Best Bitter" categories. It is a full-bodied flavoursome rounded ale with a distinctive hoppy palate and aroma.

A preference of ours, and another festival award winner, is Golden Pippin, a light refreshing blonde ale brewed using a new variety of hop, creating a citrus fruit flavour. Originally brewed as a seasonal ale, Golden Pippin has become such a favourite it is now produced all year round.

If it is bottled beer that you fancy, The Cross Roads has a wide variety of beers from around the world. Timmermans Kriek or Frambozen are fruit beers with cherries and raspberries added respectively, giving a distinctive colour and sweet/sour flavour.

Delerium, a Belgian ale that is pale and quite strong (8.5% abv) has the aroma of bananas and a wonderful taste (though not of bananas!)

One german selection is named Schienkeria Rauchbier, which I'm told is slang for gammy leg. The original owner had a twisted walk and a picture of him is on the beer bottle's label. Rauch is german for smoke, and this beer has a definite smokey aroma and flavour, achieved by kilning the barley malt over burning beachwood logs, a tradition found only in the Bamberg area in Franconia.

These are just a few of the beers available at The Cross Roads from around the world. Chris can tell you a tale about many more of the beers available at the pub...from the trappist monks in Belgium to the goldiggers in California, many of the beers taste as interesting as the stories behind (and often on) the label.

(The Cross Roads is located on the round about in Cross Roads, near Haworth.)

WEBSITE OF THE MONTH

Friction.tv is an online platform for user generated news and opinion. Anyone with an opinion on any issue can post a video recording of 30 seconds or maximum of 3 minutes. This sparks others into action: to shout out support; to put across a different view; or just to debate the point. Like a real debate, there is no absolute right or wrong, only a collection of different views that allows the viewer to make up his own mind. There are thousands of internet forums on the net, but this one stands out for its use of video and user friendly design.

A Ghostly Connection?

Ruddigore at East Riddlesden Hall

Each year, Haworth West Lane Baptist A.O.S. stages one of the Gilbert and Sullivan Comic Operas. Our producer, Michael Lofthouse, is well known in the area for his innovative settings, stretching the traditional view of the Savoy Operas. For the last 8 years we have performed in the small and intimate surroundings of the West Lane Baptist Chapel in Haworth. We had planned to stage The Sorcerer in November 2007, but our plans were thrown into disarray when we were invited by the National Trust to put on a show in the much larger and more challenging venue of the Airedale Barn. The Barn is one of the out-buildings in the grounds of East Riddlesden Hall, an atmospheric 17th-century manor house near Keighley. The show that the National Trust wanted was not The Sorcerer, but Ruddigore, for reasons that are based on the history of the Hall.

The story of Ruddigore centres round a family of 'Bad Baronets,' the Murgatroyds who, due to a witch's curse, are bound to commit a crime a day, or suffer a terrible death at the hands of their ghostly ancestors.

Gilbert is said to have based the Bad Baronets of Ruddigore on the Murgatroyd family who lived in East Riddlesden Hall in the 17th Century. It is known that W.S. Gilbert often stayed at the Hall, and would obviously have been told the gory details of the previous incumbents. The Murgatroyds became infamous for their profanity and debauchery, and members of the family were fined, imprisoned and excommunicated. The Society has another connection with the Murgatroyds of East Riddlesden Hall. Our Bass principal, Bill Bairstow, who sings Sir Despard in our production, claims descent from the Murgatroyds.

To advertise call Karen or Liz on 01535 642227

of John Murgatroyd gave birth to Bill's Great Grandmother, Emma Murgatroyd. This family line goes back directly to the Murgatroyd's of Halifax, where the James Murgatroyd of East Riddlesden Hall was born.

Whatever next? A descendant of the Murgatroyds returning to play Sir Despard at East Riddlesden Hall, the old family home, after all these years, with his wife playing Mad Margaret, and all of his daughters in the chorus. A Ghostly Connection indeed!

The Opera will be performed from November 13th to 17th at 7.30 pm, with a matinee on the 17th at 2.15 pm. Evening performances: Adults £10, Children £6. Matinee performance: Adults £8, Children £4 (643425, or 603065)
